

KIGALI INDEPENDENT UNIVERSITY(ULK)

Module Name: English Skills.

Lecturer's Name: Karekezi Diodone.

Student Name: kayitesi Annah

Roll Number: 202512562

year:2025-2026

Department:ss

date:16/02/2026

Academy year:Y1

In English Skills, we have studied different topics that help us communicate better in speaking and writing. We began with gratitude and learned how to express thanks, invite people, make offers, and give suitable replies. In pronunciation, we covered English sounds such as short and long vowels, diphthongs, and triphthongs. We also practiced speaking drills, silent letters, and linking sounds between words. In grammar, we studied several tenses including the present continuous, present perfect, present perfect continuous, past simple, and past continuous. We also learned how verbs are classified, such as auxiliary verbs, modal verbs, action verbs, regular and irregular verbs, transitive and intransitive verbs, stative and dynamic verbs, and phrasal verbs.

In addition, we studied nouns and their different types like proper, common, concrete, abstract, collective, countable, uncountable, compound, and possessive nouns, including special plural forms. We learned how to use articles (a, an, the) correctly and studied different types of pronouns and adjectives. We also covered comparison of adjectives and various future tenses such as will, going to, and future continuous forms. Moreover, we learned about active and passive voice, prepositions, and different forms of writing like paragraphs, summaries, formal letters, and friendly letters. All these topics have helped us improve our understanding and use of English in everyday communication.